PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

A Great Triumph.

Popularity of Grant and Colfax.

We have returns this morning from thirty-one States, showing that General Grant and Schuyler Colfax are the choice of twenty-three States, that Seymour and Blair carry New York and Pennsylvania, and that 214 votes are for Grant. To illustrate the popularity of the President and Vice President elect, we subjoin the reported majorities in the States heard from:

Connecticut	6,000	New York	6,000
Iowa	20,000	New Jersey	10,000
Ohio	50,000	Pennsylvania	25,000
Illinois	30,000	Indiana	5,000
Vermont	15,000	Kansas	3,000
Maine	20,000	Nebraska	2,000
Minnesota	7,000	Georgia	25,000
Rhode Island	4,000	Florida	2,000
Wisconsin	7,000	California	10,000
Michigan	15,000
Kansas	3,000
Nebraska	2,000
Illinois	30,000
Rhode Island	4,000
Connecticut	6,000
California	10,000
Commercial	5,000
Tribune	5,000
North Carolina	15,000
South Carolina	15,000
Louisiana	10,000
Alabama	10,000

The Republican majority on the popular vote is more than a quarter of a million. Oregon and Arkansas are doubtful, with the chances in favor of the Republicans, which would give Grant and Colfax, with Florida, whose Legislature has chosen Republican Electors, Seventy-one of the twenty-nine votes required for the electoral college.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The returns received from the several counties in this State show Republican gains in every instance. In those counties not to be heard from the majority for Governor will be largely increased by the vote cast for the candidate for President in October, and there can be no reasonable doubt of a Republican majority in the State of seventy-three thousand, and it may exceed that by several thousand. The following are the reported and estimated majorities:

INDIANA.

A Democratic Victory.

The decision of several minor affairs some comfort to the Democrats. The Express speaks of it as a semi-Democratic victory, and the chief speakers at their meeting last night declared that the thanks of the Democracy should be given to the Republicans of Indiana for the result of the election.

Postponed.

Senator Sherman left here for the North this afternoon, intending to be absent about two weeks. Ex-Senator Stanton has returned to Washington.

THE ELECTIONS

COMMENTS OF THE N. Y. PRESS.

What is Expected of Gen. Grant.

The Democracy Undismayed.

New York, November 4.—The Herald says: With the candidates the Democracy selected to carry their standard nothing but defeat was to be expected, and we suppose not even the most sanguine leaders of the party anticipated any other termination than the election of Grant. Had a better name been put into the field, and had the campaign been conducted with reference to the effects which would result from the success of the Democratic ticket, the result would have been very different. The Democracy would have had a fair chance of success, and the country would have been spared the humiliation of seeing the Presidency conferred upon a man who is not even a citizen of the United States, and who has no claim to the confidence of the people except his military record. We are not to attempt to account for the defeat by crying it is time now in the morning to indulge such lazy whine as the other party gave vent to on the same occasion.

Four out of the five per cents reported to have failed. The New England Democrats complain that they have not been very successful this season, in making large additions to their wealth. Their cotton crop was a failure, the harvest on the east coast of Scotland began in great quantity of oat, haddock and other fish, the catching of which has been their main stay. French advices report that the French finances are flourishing, and that the Emperor has determined on a reduction of the army to 400,000 men, and to send 60,000 soldiers to occupy Algeria. Spain is still without a government, and is now attempting the experiment of a republic.

RESULT OF THE ELECTION.

Democrats Trying to Console Themselves.

Grant's Man of Honor and Ability.

Democratic Press and Speakers Think Well of Him.

Belmont and Tammany Still Denounced.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

Washington, D. C., November 3, 1868.

Election News in Washington.

The Democrats are greatly dispirited at the result of the election, and are trying to console themselves with the idea that Grant will not receive the majority necessary to a choice, but will depend upon the vote of Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama, believing these States would never be counted in the general Democratic defeat in the country.

The Star this evening uses the following language on the subject: "We do not doubt that President Grant's administration will inaugurate and successfully carry forward many needed reforms. The choice of the people will meet the views and win the praise of all the friends of the country, we have not a little doubt. In fact the prospect is that he will prove to be a good enough Democrat for the enlightened and patriotic Democrats, and at the same a good enough Republican for all the conservative and liberal Republicans."

The Intelligencer reminds the Democratic party, "Take care so," and in conclusion takes a whack at Belmont and Tammany, in the following square terms: "The result which we chronicle to-day of the vote of New York fully proves that our worst apprehensions have been realized. Belmont and Tammany Hall have given that great State to Seymour by many votes, and the action which we gave a few days ago has been reflected. Tammany, with all its corruption, has triumphed at the expense of all party fealty, and will now revel in unlimited possession of the opulent spoils from the overflowing purse of the Empire State. With such an unequivocal profession of loyalty and treachery as this result exhibits, we call upon the Democrats and Conservatives of the country to govern in the future all affiliation with the Tammany politicians."

Tom Florence says in his paper that Belmont has twice led the Democratic party to disgrace and disastrous defeat, and the least he can now do is to resign his position as Chairman of the Executive Committee, and if he will not do this he should be removed. Florence evidently means to keep in mind the necessity of another one, for he has the following paragraph at the head of his editorial column: "On the 4th of March General Grant will be inaugurated President of the United States. There is no good that he is not thoroughly disposed, and that he has not the ability to accomplish as an American to American institutions. There is no proof that he entertains hostility to our constitutional form of government, and since he has been the central figure in the eye of the American people he has exhibited qualities of mind and character which command our highest admiration. He is a man of honor, courage and ability."

The Election in Gen. Meade's Department.

Gen. Meade telegraphed to-day to accept resignations that so far as heard from the election in the seven States constituting his department, viz: Georgia, Florida and Alabama, passed off quietly. With the exception of Virginia, where there was a disturbance occurring on the morning of the election, growing out of a concerted attempt, which was controlled and suppressed by the police without military intervention, he does not give the result of the election anywhere. No disposition was received up to the close of business hours from any of the other departments commanders.

NEW JERSEY.

Trenton, November 4.—The Democratic electoral ticket is elected, and also Governor and Legislature. Gen. Runyon, Chairman of the Democratic Committee, the Republicans say that three county Democratic conventions met and passed resolutions declaring that they would not support Seymour and Blair.

New York, November 4.—The Seventh ward in Jersey City gives a Democratic majority of one hundred and seventy-five, a Republican gain of two hundred and seventy-five. It is claimed that this is twice the number of people in the ward. The Republicans will contest the election.

The Democratic Committee of Trenton, N. J., claim a majority of one hundred and fifty for the election of four Democratic Congressmen. The Republicans concede but one Congressman, and probably give that to the Democrats.

Newark, November 4.—Returns are very close and uncertain. The Democrats claim the State by about 1,500 majority, and Randolph, Democrat for Governor, by about 1,500. The Republicans claim the State by about 1,000 majority, and Ward, Republican, for Governor, by about 1,000. Both claim Senator Stockton's district. Eight Republican members of the Assembly have been elected, which will send a Democratic United States Senator to succeed Senator Wright.

Rhode Republican for Congress, is elected in the first district by about 1,500 majority. In the second district Hubbard, Democrat, has 1,000 majority. Hall, Democrat, in the third, by 1,000 majority. Hall, Republican, in the second district, is probably defeated by 500 majority, but by a close vote. Cleveland, Democrat, in the fifth district, is elected by near 1,000 majority. Democratic gain of one Congressman.

Trenton, N. J., November 4.—The result in this county is not as complimentary to the Democracy as was anticipated. Seymour's majority will be about 1,000. Randolph, Democrat for Governor, is probably elected by about 1,000 majority. The Democrats have elected their Congressman, Senator and Assembly. The Democrats have elected their Congressman, Senator and Assembly. The Democrats have elected their Congressman, Senator and Assembly.

NEW YORK.

New York, November 4.—The Democratic majority in the State, and consequently in Hoffman's district, will reach a majority of 30,000. A telegram claims that the Legislature is all for Grant, and that Seymour will be the next Governor. Central Republican majority in the city, 7,000; in Kings county, 2,000; in Queens county, 1,000; in Richmond county, 500; Republican gain in Kings county since 1867, 10,000; Republican gain in Queens county, 1,000; Republican gain in Richmond county, 500; Republican gain in the city, 7,000

The Daily Commercial.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1868.

We infer that the vote of Pennsylvania is under rather than over that cast at the October election. The Republican majority is likely to reach 30,000.

It is barely possible that we shall have to let New Jersey go with New York for Seymour and Blair. The majority, which one way or the other, will be small. It looks as now as if Seymour would have about enough to carry Delaware (3,000 or 4,000) in 5,000, and Hoffman (15,000 to 20,000) in New York, and these will be all, except four or five southern States, which the Ku Klux control.

Seymour carries his own State by fraud and "the skin of his teeth". No intelligent man believes that the vote in New York city is an honest one, or that the majority the Democratic have in the city was not the result of fraud and corruption. On the contrary, no one for a moment questions the majorities given to Grant. No one will intimate that they do not reflect the honest sentiments of the most enlightened portion of the people of the nation.

West Tennessee carries in the North is by the most meagre majorities imaginable. What he carries in the South is by overstuffing ballot and driving his opponents from the polls, and a state of things marked by deeds that will constitute the darkest page in our history. On the contrary, Grant's majorities are positive and overwhelming, giving to the conflict of the people a moral strength and significance that cannot be misunderstood. Under such a verdict the Democratic party, more especially the leaders, should retire forever, and never again threaten to public repose and confidence.

The great Northwest has done nobly. The majorities she has given for Grant, like the support she gave to the government in the past, are without parallel. The people of the Northwest are thoroughly patriotic and always sincere in their convictions. They poured out their blood and money like water to save the government, and in rolling up those splendid majorities which we record to-day, they have been influenced by those elevated motives which led them to contribute so large a share to put down the Rebellion. We are only sorry over the majorities which the Northwest has given, but especially on account of the motives which prompted them, which are so different from those which gave Seymour his large majorities as Right is from Wrong, Loyalty from Treason.

Taxes has not been an election for more than a year, the result of which has not, regardless of the truth, been claimed by the New York World as a Democratic victory. Vermont and Maine and subsequently Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana elections were distorted, or attempted to be, into an expression in favor of Seymour and Blair. In this the Democratic press generally joined, sounded by the speech of that party as the means for them to prove that the November elections have gone in their favor, and, as usual, especially by our neighbor of the Post, endorse their representations by a plentiful degree of emotion. Although it may be a hard job to turn the election of Grant into a Democratic victory, nevertheless as we do not permit ourselves to doubt that those who transformed the largest and grandest elections into victories for Seymour and Blair will be equal to the task.

An element fell a decided relief in view of the way the election has gone. Even the Democrats, we imagine, feel better than they did when they were making fruitless endeavors in behalf of Seymour and Blair, than whom no party ever had worse candidates. The public mind is too much overgrown to put with the grossest fact in connection with the magnitude and consequences of the victory won in the election of Grant and Colfax, but one thing is felt on all hands to be true, which is that with Grant at the head of the Government, and a Congress acting in harmony, law and order will once more prevail, and that justice will be fairly and impartially administered. That every man's rights will everywhere be secured, no one doubts, and we conclude that in the South the conviction will speedily and extensively prevail, that the sooner the lawlessness which of late has come over them ceases, and a peaceable disposition is manifested, the better will it be for the people of that quarter of the country. Although it will be four months before Grant will come into the Presidency, yet the knowledge that, if he lives, he surely will be President, together with the conceptions which the Southern people have of his character as a man of determination and opinion of purpose, will have an immediate salutary influence in repressing the disorders and turning public sentiment and action to that standard to which no one doubts they must come, if not before, very speedily after the fourth of March next.

THE BANNER COUNTY.

All honor to Allegheny, the banner county of the Keystone State! She has nobly redeemed the promise made in her behalf, at the Chicago Convention, by Major A. M. Brown, who pledged that her loyal voters would give a round 10,000 majority for Grant and Colfax. She has not fallen under the mark, but has given seven or eight hundred more than was promised. The majority over that given at the State election has been increased about 1,800, or the increase, Pittsburgh gives about 600, and Allegheny about 300. The boroughs and townships make up the balance. Allegheny City has made a glorious record in her increased vote. The conspicuous part which she took in the contest, and the manner in which she has honored the duties upon her hands, entitle her to the special praise and commendation of the party throughout the State. All her wards are now Republican—several of them giving six hundred majority and over—the only remaining Democratic precinct having been redeemed on the occasion.

The campaign was most thoroughly and efficiently conducted throughout the entire county, and we congratulate our Republican friends—especially those who have borne the heat and burden of the day—on the completion of their labors.

The foregoing, from the New York Times, was chiefly meant, but in answer to the statement that Mr. Seymour's health is seriously affected. The health of Mr. Seymour has not been good for some months past, but is rapidly improving. He will not be able to attend to business, as well known in the city of Washington. He has been in the campaign just closer than no doubt stood in the way of his entering, but there is the best reason for believing that a few weeks of rest will result in his entire, if not perfect health. We notice it being done to say that there is no foundation whatever for the statement that Mr. Seymour's personal affairs are in a state of embarrassment, and we greatly regret that any allusion has been made to the subject. He does not require pecuniary assistance and would not accept it from any quarter, however kindly and generously offered.

The Times has not, however, once stated the cause of Mr. Seymour's sickness to the country. There is not, in our opinion, any man living to whom the people of the United States owe a larger debt of gratitude. Endowed with natural abilities of the highest order, cultivated by education and matured by a long and extensive practice of a liberal profession, with great earnestness and love of character and a power of enforcing convincing moral ideas, with an iron purpose, an incorruptible integrity and a patriotism which towers in sublimity to the cause of his country, he was called to the public service at a time and in a station in which the greatest capacity and loyalty were needed. It is no exaggeration to say of him as to public service that he met every financial policy of the country that Edwin M. Stanton, and few of his contemporaries will have so high a place in her history. He was stronger in the general confidence of the late President than even that any member of the Cabinet—a confidence the wisdom of which has been fully established by the subsequent political career of the man who composed the counsel of the lamented President.

The result of the election in this county was accomplished by the organization of committees in every ward, district, township and borough, with sub-committees, in many instances, in every square, street, alley, hollow, mountain, and other locality.

Personal independence and freedom of choice are guaranteed to the employees.

They were drawn to the polls and found to exert the majority of their opinionists.

The above extracts, taken from yesterday's Post are evidently from the same pen that dignified the workingmen of Pittsburgh as slaves, and openly declared that "their masters" should be held "responsible for their unlawful conduct." "Brutes," "ruffians," "ungrateful" are not peculiarly pet phrases, or the terms one would naturally expect from the "only Democratic paper in Western Pennsylvania," and champion of labor. Bad as injustice as they were, we doubt if their injection was calculated to offend the workingmen of Allegheny county more than the calmness we have quoted above, and which, we need scarcely add, contains four distinct, deliberate falsehoods. We discussed this matter at length during the canvass. The workingmen have recorded their verdict. The election is over, and we do not propose to review the arguments. But we are none the less determined to expose falsehood and rebuke injustice wherever we find it, and as the editorial of the Post comes under that category, we think it our duty to call the attention of our contemporary to an apparent oversight. If he will examine the returns carefully, the editor will perceive that the question he has made concerning the manner in which the "result was brought about in this county," may be made with equal truthfulness in regard to the "result" throughout the country. There have been numerous Republican gains everywhere. Never in the history of the country has there been such an extraordinary and universally outspoken "intimation" of "personal independence and freedom of choice" on the part of the workingmen of the United States as has just been recorded. The singular obliviousness of the Post in failing to perceive this unanimity is only equalled by its stupidity in hulling half way in the mud, though eminently disingenuous argument. What is true of Allegheny county must, as a matter of course, be true of the whole country. The "result of the election in this county was brought about by the rigorous exercise of all the coercive power possessed by the proprietors of manufactories, mills, shops and collieries." Consequently, there must be mills and collieries in every town and precinct in the Eastern, Middle and Western States. Else how are we to account for the great gains made by the Republicans? This remarkable evidence of the increase in the industrial force and solid wealth of the country would afford us immense gratification, were it not that the feeling is alloyed by the fact that in proportion as our mechanical resources expand, "personal independence and freedom of choice" glass place to a sickish "submission," and employees are "driven to the polls" by their "heartless, grasping and selfish employers."

It has been remarked time and again that the workingmen of Pittsburgh will bear favorable comparison with any body of workers in the country. Quiet, orderly and ingenious, nothing is more common than to see them occupy first one position of trust, then another and another until they in turn become owners and employers. Three-fourths of our manufacturing establishments to-day exhibit proofs of this distinguishing feature. The astonishing hosts of the Post, it will thus be perceived, are doubly ingenious and an insult to the great mass of our business community and will doubtless be viewed accordingly.

PERSONAL.

The Hon. Alexander Cullen will arrive in Pittsburgh this evening, and for the good of the party it is hoped he will remain until after the election. The Democrats of this city will afford a fitting opportunity for his Republican opponents here to pay him their respects at about eight o'clock. It may not be, especially should the majority be large, that he will be able to take them all by the hand, but it is suggested that he will be able to say a few words, and that the occasion will be a pleasant one to him and his hosts of admirers in Pittsburgh.

The Memoirs under the lead of Brigham Young are preparing for publication a memoir of Joseph Smith, which, it is stated, will have been prosecuted so far in the movement as to authorize a capital of $1,000,000. Brigham is to be President, Arabic apostolous will occupy minor next Secretary.

The memoir, we are informed, is to be sold, to supply an equivalent for forgery the cornices of the benefit of Mormon souls.

A Signature of Position.

Twenty-three students, who were refused admittance to Wabash College have addressed a supreme protest to the Yale Courant, in which they explain the sort of education they want. They desire to be young gentlemen of Illinois, in addition to being educated as Christian women.

No such situation as those in these columns, but one which is not unfrequently met with in the daily walks of life, and which should not be passed by without a word of comment. Here are twenty-three young men who desire to be educated as young gentlemen, whose parents have been refused admittance to Wabash College, a distance of thirty-one miles, on the ground of bad scholarship, and only one out of the twenty-three is a graduate of lower, has asked for entry. Examination, and has served his country in two wars.

Spiritualists Lead to Bankruptcy Court.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: The young gentleman beginning life the story of Lord Albert Clinton, as revealed in the Court of Bankruptcy on Saturday, is one of the most painful and extraordinary on record. Lord Albert has devoted his life thus far to the work of showing how much a foolish young man may bring himself to ruin. The bankrupt told the Court that he "had done nothing for years beyond getting into debt." He had been a year which his father died, and on coming into possession of his property found himself encumbered to the extent of £30,000. He now succeeded in reducing his debts to £20,000, and then began to live beyond his means. The present aggregate of his intelligent young man of a noble house is £60,000, and he has "been a fool." He says he has lately passed five weeks in intimate association with spiritualists, and that they have found his family must be of this young man!

We found it necessary the other day to comment upon the silly fashion which our young ladies sometimes employ in writing fictitious names in the visitors' book of the Female Orphan Asylum, but the observations we addressed to some members of the Female Typographical Union, but before we are shocked by the same affection in a much more pernicious garb than of novelty. A recent report of a fashionable wedding, published in the regular organ of the gay and giddy world, the Home Journal, of this city, contains the following gentlemen who bears the noble name of Lionel has just been married in Washington to a young lady named Jennie, and that among the bridesmaids on the interesting occasion there was one Miss Lily Langtry. The names of the bridesmaids were all dressed in the height of the fashion, and the bridesmaids were all dressed in the height of the fashion, and the bridesmaids were all dressed in the height of the fashion, and Another Victim.

Stephen Vance, a miner hailing from Kentucky was murdered out of hand on Tuesday at the Union depot.

Increase.

To one of our newspaper-in-issues in Boston is worse than death, the position being that of commercial life, while no effort is spared to maintain the high rank the home has held so long.

A Good School.

We know of no better school than the State Normal School at Edinboro. It has distinction for thoroughness in young men and for young women. Address J. P. Cooper, Edinboro, Erie county, Pa. 6w

Our Engineer Corps.

The City Engineer corps now number six men, including Engineer Roberts, and the Survey Corps have two men and one draughtsman. All are hard at work.

Criminal Court.

Criminal court, on Tuesday afternoon a small third entered Mrs. Stark's bawdy house, on Fourth avenue, and stole from the house in the hall a heavy cloth overcoat, valued at about $25, belonging to one of the boarders. The third is not known.

A Wonderful Wax.

A German named Frederick Kommerle, residing at No. 61 First street, Allegheny city, has been turning some very handsome profits in the fall line by forming company with a traveler named Jung, and putting the town over at famine rates. And to-morrow's entertaining advertisements will be found no exception.

Burnt Coal.

Hiram Miller, Mr. Abraham Roberts, of Uniontown, Pa., telegrapher Chief of Police Irwin recently that a coal mine had been broken from him on Tuesday night. Against the thief was supposed to have come in the direction of Pittsburgh. Officer combined with the matter in hand and was at the Pennsylvania depot on the arrival of the Fort Wayne accordingly, but the thief was too sharp to come that way, and it is possible that he has escaped. Mr. Roberts is out of considerable money by the unwelcome event. It was thought that he would be found in Pittsburgh, but it appears he did not.

Didn't Come This Way.

A big gang of counterfeiters, reported to Chief of Police Irwin was received at the Mayor's office yesterday from Rough Water, Ky., of Enon Valley, on the Fort Wayne Railroad, requesting the arrest of a young fellow named Charles Gaus, of Pittsburgh, who had stolen one hundred and thirty-five dollars in money, one pair of boots, a soldier's overcoat and an officer's dress coat from Mr. Worley. The dispatch also gave a description of the accused, and stated that he had the supposed to have come in this direction. Chief Irwin and officer Armstrong went to the depot on the arrival of the train, but the fellow "looked for" didn't come this way.

A Big City for Cheap Coals.

Two big guns were cast for General Grant on Tuesday, weighing over a thousand pounds, and of the same time the Fort Pitt Foundry cast a twenty-inch gun in his honor. The twenty-inch gun is the largest ever successfully cast in this country. It was thought that the Fort Pitt Foundry had the largest steam hammer in the United States, but weights eighty-five tons, and is declared that Pittsburg will have to wait for another year before she can boast of the largest steam hammer in the world. Just now Pittsburg is the most effective and productive locality in the country.

The Railroad Fire Alarm Bell.

The bell to be put up at Braddock will cost $60, of which amount the city will put $30. The price of the cricket is not generally known, but it is supposed it will cost as much as the apparatus for the bell in Lawrenceville, which is $50, not including that for weights, poles, wire, brackets, &c. The Lawrenceville bell weighs 2,200, and the city pays the same amount. The bell weighs about three thousand pounds. The bell at Troy Hill is 2,000 lbs. Two apparatuses, one for the Lawrenceville bell and one for that to be put up at Troy Hill, are now in the hands of the Superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph. We have been put squarer than other cities.

Burglary.

Burglary in Allegheny.—At the mill of Graff, Bynn & Co., located in South Pittsburgh, on Monday last the burglars got into that way—not known in one day or a single bar—and, we presume, got a good deal. It was done on a Sunday, when the Knights can find time for the hands, and the wages was that fifteen tons of iron and three-quarter keys were said to be burned. It is a pretty safe guess that it was done by the employees of the mill; but it was found out so soon that no chance to get away with the plunder. The burglars are in jail. Everyone to his duty, the largest amount of work performed in the shortest time. Watchmen, look out.

Fresh Lecture.

The lecture announced for to-day and "Fresh Lecture," which excited so much curiosity, is postponed to Saturday, the November 7th.
